This rulemaking action by the California Air Resources Board (ARB) makes changes to the consumer products regulations in Title 17 of the California Code of Regulations. These changes include amendments to regulations governing antiperspirants and deodorants, consumer products, aerosol coating products, Table of Maximum Incremental Reactivity (MIR) Values, and ARB's Method 310. This action also repeals the Hairspray Credit Program. The primary purpose of this rulemaking is to reduce the impacts that volatile organic compound (VOC) emissions from the use of consumer products and aerosol coatings have on the formation of ground-level ozone.

OAL approves this regulatory action pursuant to section 11349.3 of the Government Code. This regulatory action becomes effective on 1/1/2015.
